

This e-mail is in regards to Sinclair Broadcasting Group. It's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a example of the dangers of media consolidation.

I find it very unfair that Sinclair is broadcasting "Stolen honor" but not broadcasting "Going upriver". This to me is a clear example of endorsing a presidential candidate.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
